

Call for Applications for new Thematic Working Groups for CERME 14 in 2025

Dear ERME members,

The CERME 14 conference will take place in Bolzano (Italy) from February 4 to February 8, 2025. The LOC chair is Giorgio Bolondi (Italy) and LOC co-chair is Camilla Spagnolo (Italy). The IPC chair is Marianna Bosch (Spain) and the IPC co-Chair is Susana Carreira (Portugal). The ERME Board is keen for CERME 14 to address new themes and research subjects in mathematics education research. For this reason, the CERME 14 IPC will consider proposals for new topics for TWGs. In particular, new themes that would help differentiate within existing themes which in the past attracted many papers (such as teacher education and professional development, teaching with technology, and university mathematics education) will be considered. It is likely that no more than three new TWGs will be accepted.

We invite groups of at least three people from different countries (at least two of them European) to send us suggestions for possible new TWGs (please refer to the ERME website for a list of previous CERME TWGs). These suggestions must be supported by a strong argument. If you have the idea of a new TWG that might be interesting and productive for CERME 14, please send us a proposal describing:

- The suggested topic of the TWG
- 15-25 lines explaining the content of the group and the need for this new TWG, including any ongoing work within and/or beyond CERME (e.g., the existence of a research group/network) that might help to establish this TWG, and a justification that the focus represents a significant subject of research in the mathematics education community. Provide evidence of existing research quality in the topic and sufficient interest in the group
- Suggestions for a TWG leader, including a CV or at least a webpage (please emphasize his/her previous CERME experience), and at least two other people supporting the proposal
- Preliminary suggestions for possible co-leaders of the TWG (please emphasize any previous CERME experiences)

The IPC and the ERME board will take the decisions about topics, modified titles and leaders, also taking into account regional balances and gender balances.

Please send your proposals before August 15, 2023, by e-mail to marianna.bosch@ub.edu and scarrei@ualg.pt.

Many thanks for your participation!

On behalf of the CERME 14 IPC,

Marianna Bosch
